WE NOMINATE

Virgil Miller Newton, probably the youngest pastor in these United States, who as a Princeton University undergraduate has assumed year-round responsibility for administering to the spiritual needs of three small Methodist Churches within 30 miles of Nassau Hall. This month—days before observing his 19th birthday—Newton will be starting his second year of "duality", combining a full-time sophomore schedule with his duties as a self-described "old Methodist circuit rider". Although he holds the title of "student supply pastor", he has been given special authorization by the appropriate authorities to preach, marry, bury, baptize and serve communion.

An intense, level-headed young man, personifying the Methodist Church's belief that a man must be "called to preach the Word of God", Newton was licensed to preach by the Florida Methodist Conference during his senior year at Sewanee Military Academy when he was 17. A year ago, in his pre-college summer, he gained his initial practical experience by understudying vacationing ministers in his native Tampa and in St. Petersburg, Fla. His ability and enthusiasm led his District Superintendent in Florida to notify his New Jersey counterpart that Newton would be glad to be of service while studying at Princeton. There was urgent need for help on the "Imlaystown Circuit" and Newton, just 18, "took over" the struggling Imlaystown, Clarksburg and Emley's Hill parishes.

The son of one of Florida's topnotch newspapermen (a former president of the Associated Press Managing Editors' Association) and the first minister in his family in almost a century, Newton had decided upon the ministry as early as sophomore year in high school. Since then his objective has been a broad humanistic education culminated by ordination in the Methodist Church and eventually a parish in the Southeastern States. Indicative of his deep-rooted interest in his current assignments was his refusal this summer to permit his churches "to change horses in midstream". He remained on the job for the bulk of the summer recess, shifting his residence from parish to parish and maintaining the momentum of growth developed earlier in the year.

Newton's routine during the academic year is as absorbing as it must be exhausting. He admits that pastoral obligations "detract a little" from his studies. Yet he thinks nothing of preparing three 20-to-40-minute sermons each week, of remaining on call at all times, and of devoting weekends to working with young people and visiting parishioners. On a normal Sunday he will deliver what one observer terms "three, dynamic, sincere sermons"—at 9:30, 11:00 and 2:30. In his churches, as he seeks to put across his messages with fluent, unpracticed gestures, children are often scampering through the congregation. This bothers him not a whit, for he insists: "I would rather have the children there, and screaming, than not have their parents in church at all."

For portraying Christianity as a "warm, personal, living religion"; for depicting the role of the preacher in these straightforward words: "If you can't get them there, they can't be made Christians and they can't be made better"; for understanding all that is connoted by The Golden Rule; he is Town Topics' nominee for

TAX UPROAR MUTED

No Massive Protest. The rumoured mass appeal against the current tax bills in Princeton Township has not developed, according to indications as the Mercer County Board of Taxation reported on its schedule for hearing complaints.

Nonetheless, the Princeton appeal figures are still high. Princeton Township taxpayers have made 90 complaints, Borough taxpayers 45. Trenton has made a whopping 811 appeals, but all other municipalities in the county total only 60.

The Township cases will be heard next Wednesday, September 4, at the County Court House in Trenton. The County Tax Board said it will try to indicate specific times to appear in order to prevent long waits during the day-long session. The hearings will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Decisions will be reserved in all cases. The final judgment will be sent by the board to each complainant through the mail at a later date.

The Township's 90 appeals do not loom large against a total of 3,700 real estate bills sent out in July. The pattern appears to be revolt against specific high valuations. The 100% of true value assessment change has apparently won the consent, if not the enthusiasm, of the vast majority of Township residents.

However, the low number of appeals in Summer, 1957, may belie the true situation in this community and elsewhere. There are many signs of a movement opposed to the continued use of real estate as the basis of taxation in the state.

Furthermore, the tax squeeze on young people in the educational and research fields in Princeton will take effect slowly as they feel the pressure of the upward trend in land values here, as well as the apparently inevitable overall cost spiral.

Borough Hearing Oct. 4. The County Tax Board will hear the protest of the 45 Borough appellants on October 4. A spokesman said this was because an expert who will appear for Princeton Municipal Improvement, Inc., is in Europe and will not be back until the first week in October.

The PMI appeal may prove extraordinarily interesting. Values in the Central Business District have unquestionably sky-rocketed but a move by the largest single business landlord in the Borough could signal a more widespread unrest.

ETS' college scholarship service & scholarship qualifying test for the past two years who this week accepted the highly responsible position of registrar at the University of Pennsylvania (effective September 9). A graduate of Wesleyan (B.A.) and NYU (M.A.), this able administrator nonetheless has come to think of himself as an Ivy Leaguer, for he did graduate research work at Yale, served as operations officer at Columbia's Midshipmen's School during WWII, spent six years as registrar at Cornell and now has logged time in Princeton before moving to Penn.

Dr. Scarvia B. Anderson, 146 Nassau Street, another talented ETS representative who returned from Belgium this past week after delivering a significant paper on reasoning in normal and educationally subnormal children before some 1,000 attendees at the 15th International Congress of Psychology, held at the University of Brussels. A product of the Universities of Tennessee (B.A., M.A.) and Maryland (Ph.D.) and currently editor of cooperative tests at ETS, Dr. Anderson travelled to Europe on Ford Foundation-supplied funds and based her address on research work completed while holding a Fulbright grant at Oxford.

Mrs. Janet Agle, 174 Westcott Road onetime bookseller, book reviewer and publishers' publicist who this week officially turned book writer with the announcement that her first novel, "Family Secret," will be published September 25 by J. B. Lippincott Company (284 pp, $3.75). A near-constant traveller in her early years and now the Princeton-based wife of Charles K. Agle, noted city planner, the new author has revealed nothing about her book except that it poses the compelling question, "What are people trying to express today that's given them such a case of the jitters?"

Dr. Courtland D. Perkins, 621 Lake Drive, chairman of the department of aeronautical engineering at Princeton University who this past week received the Exceptional Civilian Service Award for his work during the last 12 months as Chief Scientist of the U.S. Air Force. Professor Perkins, who will return to Princeton in September after a year's leave of absence, accepted the honor from Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas in a special ceremony.

ROUND-UP

Almost on the eve of the long, dangerous Labor Day week end, State Attorney General Grover C. Richman reported that a shocking toll of 23 lives were taken in New Jersey highway accidents last week alone . . . pleading with motorists to slow down and live, the disturbed official stated that the total shows an increase to date of 17% over the traffic fatality record of last year and that, if such a trend were to continue, state accident deaths would surpass 900 during 1957, the greatest annual toll in 20 years . . . other New Jersey statistics of note this week: Sunday's 1-to-3 inch downpour helped a few late crops, but 40 million dollars' worth of early crops have already been wrecked by the worst drought in a century (5.20 inches since May 1, the normal amount being 16 inches) . . . State Education Commissioner F. M. Raubinger of Princeton has announced that 920,000-plus public school students will jam New Jerseys' classrooms next month, a jump of 40,000 from last year.

Aroused citizens of Birch Avenue have written Town Topics a pointed letter concerning their problems with a newly re-opened neighborhood tavern (see Mailbox, page 10) . . . next Tuesday, following their customary summer "enjoyment period," Borough and Township employees will resume regular 9-to-5 office hours . . . Mayor Sturges has informed Borough Hall by phone that he is "recuperating nicely" from a July heart attack at his summer home on Long Island, while Borough Engineer L. Russell Riker has left Princeton Hospital after recovering from his recent illness . . . the Township Planning Board, which meets the first Monday in each month, will convene next Wednesday evening due to the holiday on Monday . . . Bernard Weinstein of Princeton Stationers literally got into the political picture Tuesday afternoon when the Democratic State Committee's TV crew "shot" him in a film to plug Governor Meyner during the campaign.

RESEARCH MILESTONE

"Al Promising Avenues." Buried deep in the construction news in the metropolitan press this week was a terse announcement that could hold oceans of meaning for all future Princetonians and for the world as a whole.

The gist of the item: "Walter Kidde Constructors, Inc., engineers and builders of New York and Houston, has been awarded the Atomic Energy Commission contract for the design and engineering of the office and laboratory facilities for Princeton University's Stellerator research project at the James Forrestal Research Center."

There was no indication of the amount involved, nor of the fact that this contract represents Step No. 1 in a long-range, multi-million dollar, research program outlined by last spring by Lewis L. Strauss, Chairman of the A. E. C., when he announced the plans for constructing at Princeton a large experimental device for research into controlled thermonuclear reactions (the problem of converting the H-Bomb to peacetime uses, or of finding the key to the solution of the world's power problems.)

In discussing the plans for the so-called Model C. Stellerator, a word coined from "stellar" and "generator" and currently meaning a research tool rather than a pilot plant, Admiral Strauss said that it is "our policy to pursue all promising and feasible avenues of thermonuclear research.

Project Matterhorn. In 1951 Dr. Lyman Spitzer Jr., brilliant 42-year old chairman of the University's Department of Astronomy, approached the A. E. C. with an idea for providing an almost timitless source of power by containing and harnessing the nuclear burning of hydrogen at temperatures comparable to the sun itself —temperatures that are achieved on earth only in the explosion of atomic bombs.

Out of Dr. Spitzer's suggestion grew Project Matterhorn, the Princeton sector of this nation's Controlled Thermonuclear Program, which in turn is known as Project Sherwood. The physicists and engineers collaborating with Professor Spitzer are now operating in a newly constructed $450,000 building at Forrestal and will eventually direct a complex system of research facilities spread over a 30-acre site at the Research Center.

"A Billion Years." In recent months Dr. Spitzer has pointed out that the motivation in controlled fusion research is "the realization that mankind's predicted power requirements for the future show the need for a sustained growth in the world's power capabilities, a growth not possible with the estiamted energy reserves of fossil and fissionable fuels."

Emphasizing that "by far the greatest reserve of stored energy on earth is locked up in the nuclei of hydrogen atoms present in the oceans," Professor Spitzer points out that thermonuclear burning, or fusion of light nuclei, occurs most readily with deuterium, a heavy isotope of hydrogen."

"Although only one deuterium nucleus is present in water for every 6,400 nuclei of ordinary hydrogen, the total amount of deuterium in the oceans is enormous. If the energy stored in these nuclei could be released in a controlled manner and used for the generation of electrical power, the deuterium in the oceans' waters would be sufficient to provide many times the present rate of world energy consumption for more than 1,000,000,000 years."

To convert the abundant supply of energy in the earth's deuterium into useful power, Dr. Spitzer states, "we must achieve enormous temperatures (millions of degrees) in a gas confined within walls that remain relatively cool. We must then control the thermonuclear reaction when it occurs. We must extract the energy released and use it to generate electricity."

Several months ago Admiral Strauss in a prepared statement said that the construction of facilities at Princeton would begin this summer, subject to Congressional authorization and appropriation. It is expected, he also said, that the construction of facilities to house the Stellerator will begin in 1958 and that experiments with the Stellerator will begin late in 1960 or in 1961.

SOMETHING TO CROW ABOUT

Eloise is Sensation. If you are attacked by a large black object in the vicinity of Jefferson Road, don't panic, just call Dr. or Mrs. J. Mercer Rampona at the corner of Cuyler and Jefferson and find out what to do with Eloise.

Actually, this four-month-old crow is a friendly and talented pet, who is slowly winning her way into the hearts of the Ramponas' neighbors. It is becoming an honor to say that Eloise dropped in for your cocktail party, or is interested in your car keys and golf balls.

The owners of the crow have heard many reports about the visits that Eloise has paid to neighbors, and are almost afraid to pick up the telephone to hear about the latest escapade of Princeton's answer to "Heckle and Jeckle." Residents of Valley Road once were startled by a "giant eagle or albatross" who dropped in for a picnic supper in the back yard. It was only gentle little Eloise.

Mrs. Rampona observes that "we've had crows before, but never such a personality. Eloise is completely undaunted by anything; she isn't even afraid of cats and dogs or automobiles."

When TOWN TOPICS' reporter went out to visit Eloise for some pictures, she was nibbling at some raw hamburger with a handsome Doberman Pinscher named Storm.

She is also quite choosey about her comrades, picking out only a few children in the neighborhood for friends. Seven-year-old Dave Shimberg, a neighbor on Cuyler Road, seems to be one of the crow's best friends, gally conversing with the gal as she perches on his hand.

No Old Crow for Eloise. Eloise also gets a kick out of swimming in the Ramponas' pool with the doctor and his wife, or Dick Dahl, who lives in an apartment over the garage. Dick and Eloise have quite a time of it at the pool's edge—sometimes with canned liquid refreshments, although the young crow hasn't yet developed a taste for Old Crow.

Actually, Eloise is quite clever in and around the water of the pool, bathing herself completely if perched on the hand of a close friend. She also enjoys perching on a rubber inner tube to watch the activity around the pool.

Cars seem to have quite an attraction for the new resident of Jefferson Road. According to her owners, the bird has been known to strut down the street in front of a slowly moving car or to perch on the hood. Mrs. Rampona had some trouble last week in convincing the crow that she was not wanted on a trip to New York City.

Ed Clohossey of 479 Jefferson learned of Eloise's interests the hard way. He left his car keys in the trunk lock one evening several weeks ago and turned around just in time to see a rash young crow flying to the roof of the garage with the keys.

Mr. Clohossey had to get a ladder to recover the keys, but considers the crow better than one he knew in his youth. Apparently this bird was prone to uttering slightly uncouth remarks, and the Mr. Clohossey is glad that Eloise is "a well-behaved crow."

Also a Nervous Crow. Eloise isn't the first crow in the Ramponas' life, although by far the most talented. Several years ago, Stevens and McCarthy made quite a hit, although a hawk ended the former's life in Vermont and McCarthy found nearby construction work too much for his nerves and took off.

Eloise has a cage for herself, built after a neighbors began to complain about missing clothespins and frightened children. But now that folks have come to know the crow better, she is allowed to fly around freely, building quite a legend for herself.

Eloise began her career some four months ago in a nest on a Belle Mead farm, from which she was plucked as a gift to the Ramponas. Now Eloise's future is uncertain with the doctor and his wife headed to the Virgin Islands for a brief vacation. He may end up in a pet shop or in the wilds of New Jersey with his fellow crows.

REPORT FROM ORC

Changing of the Guard. Wholehearted optimism concerning the future of the research business — including Princeton's status as "research center of the world" — was re-affirmed this week by Dr. Claude Robinson, a real "workhorse" in the field who founded Opinion Research Corporation back in 1938. With his enthusiastic predictions, Dr. Robinson also announced a decision to move from president of ORC to chairman of its board of directors.

The outgoing president, for years a nationally known authority in the research field, attributed his move—and attendant switches in ORC's personnel structure—to his "recent illness," coupled with the company's immediate plans "to handle a record volume of business." Simultaneously, Dilmen M. K. Smith was named vice-chairman of the board, Joseph C. Bevis was elevated to ORC's presidency and Walter C. Barlow became executive vice-president specializing in program development.

"This change places administrative responsibility where it belongs," Dr. Robinson observed, "in the hands of the men who are running the operations." Noting that he will henceforth devote his efforts to "planning, policy and the creation of ideas," he added, "I am looking forward to having more 'think time' to put in on the activities of the several enterprises with which I am associated."

"In addition," Dr. Robinson said, "we propose to share not only the executive direction, but the ownership. I shall continue as a major stockholder, but all the officers will be afforded the opportunity to acquire a substantial interest. The board of directors, representing the stockholders, will have the final authority on decisions."

The new board will be a working board, made up of the new appointees plus the following, all of whom are vice-presidents of the organizations: LeBaron R. Foster, Hugh C. Hoffman, M. Starr Northrop, L. E. Purvis, W. Donald Rugg and Hugh L. Rusch.

Park Is a Symbol. Elaborating a bit on his optimistic outlook, Dr. Robinson noted that ORC, one of the nation's leading market and attitude research firms, located at 44 Nassau Street, will move into its new $600,000 home in Princeton Research Park about April 1 of next year. The board chairman cited this plan as a symbol of ORC's confidence in the future of Princeton research.

In addition to his ORC board duties, Dr. Robinson said specifically he will continue as chairman of PRP and as president of Gallup & Robinson, Inc., which specializes in advertising research. If any personnel changes are to be made at G&R as a result of his altered schedule, they will not be made until a later date, when Dr. George Gallup has returned from Europe, Dr. Robinson commented.

In answer to questions about the status of the Princeton Panel, PRP'S first tenant which launched a comprehensive sudy of capitalism in the old LaVake home on PRP property last year, Dr. Robinson admitted its activities may be curtailed—somewhat ironically—for lack of operating capital. He called the Panel an important part of ORC, basing his conviction on records broken in orders for its first book and on the "tremendous desire throughout management" for knowledge of the world of business, but conceded "the problem of underwriting" may influence the board at its first reorganization meeting this Friday.

Mr. Bevis, ORC's new president, joined the firm in 1940, one

Sportsmen now and always, Joe Coridoni and Sam Peyer, genial hosts at Marroe Restaurant on the Brunswick Pike, have become as absorbed in the Ted Williams-Mickey Mantle batting duel as all other followers of American League baseball. They have an unreported "side wager" on the outcome themselves.

McCARTER THEATRE

Premiere September 12. Pat O'Brien and Ruth Warrick, who will launch the fall season at McCarter Theatre in the world premiere of "Miss Lonelyhearts", are teaming as a husband and wife for the fourth time in their notable careers.

It's been O'Brien and Warrick as a husband and wife in the films "The Iron Major", "Secret Command" and "Perilous Holiday". Now they are teaming in Howard Teichman's adaption of the Nathanael West novel. "Miss Lonelyhearts" bows Thursday, September 12, with an early 8:00 p.m. curtain. There will be performances September 13 and 14, with an extra matinee at lower prices on Saturday.

The McCarter box office will open on Tuesday, September 3. Hours are 10 to 6. Mail orders are now being filled. Boston is the only other city which will see the play before it goes into New York.

William Joseph Patrick O'Brien, who has since become famous for his portrayals of "men's men", made his acting debut as an angel (aged nine) in a Christmas play at a Milwaukee parochial school. It was a thrilling performance as he stepped on a tack, lost one wing, and ripped the back out of the nightshirt he wore.

He went to Marquette, served a stint in the Navy, finally cracked Broadway and then in 1932 began his long film career. He started it with the role of Hildy Johnson in "Front Page", his latest stage hit. Now in "Miss Lonelyhearts" he starts in (after 101 films) again as a hard-boiled newspaper editor.

Ruth Warrick was the discovery of Orson Welles at the Mercury Theatre. She is currently playing "Edie" in the CBS serial "As the World Turns". She has made 25 films. Fritz Weaver, who came to Broadway only two sea-

Theatres Re-Awaken

The signs that the '57 - '58 theatrical season is just about here can be found in the news of two Princeton stand-bys, The Garden Theatre and the McCarter.

The Garden opens up its doors again on Monday, with a showing of "Battle Hell". The season will be devoted largely to foreign films, but Manager Richard Knight reports booking DeMille's "The Ten Commandments" for an extended run at advanced prices on September 25.

At the McCarter, the mail orders are pouring in and the telephone calls are, too, ordering ducats for "Miss Lonelyhearts", which will open the big theatre's 29th season. There is plenty of out-of-town interest in the show and a considerable rush is expected when the b.o. opens next Tuesday. Mail orders are "clocked" and filled in order of receipt.

sons ago, will appear in the "title role"—a cub reporter put on the Dorothy Dix column of a New York daily.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Night Passage (August 29-31) marks James Stewart's seasonal appearance at the Playhouse, where the onetime Triangle thespian is always well-received. This time, however, he's pressed his lock pretty thin inasmuch as Jimmy's western yarns are beginning to look about as familiar as those cowboy duds he's been a-wearin' for the past decade. Yep, it's another tale about two brothers, one good (Jim, natch) and one bad (switch-hitter Audie Murphy), who get mixed up in the dramatic theft of a railroad payroll, with our hero saving the loot but not the life of his soddenly-reformed kin.

Though it's all rather repetitious stuff, there are a few bright spots which make this film better-than-average summer fare. One is the meritorious debut of Technirama, Technicolor's sharp, clear and natural contribution to the wide-screen process. Another is the comedy relief offered by Dan Duryea in his role of gang leader. Also, Jimmy is still Jimmy, a factor that defies argument in these parts, and he's even more like Triangle Jimmy as he plays an accordion and sings a pair of reasonably catchy western-style folk tunes by the indefatigible Dimitri Tiomkin-Ned Washington combine.

Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter? (September 1-3) An all-important question, to which the equally important answer is "NO," in capital letters. George Axelrod's stage comedy was a smash Broadway hit, and, though only the title and star (Jayne Mansfield) have been preserved by producer-director-writer Frank Tashlin, the new screen version may be considered even a bigger smash than its predecessor. Tashlin has a happy way of getting the most out of comic possibilities, and he is at his happy best this time out.

Using Miss Mansfield and co-star Tony Randall as the tools of his invention, Tashlin pokes fun at moviedom and its people, the TV profession and trade, the advertising agency in its amusing and agonizing moments, and the press in all its forms and many of its frailties. Both "leads" are perfectly cast, as are such supporting luminaries as Betsy Drake, Joan Blondell and Mickey Hargitay. Everything's wrapped up prettily in CinemaScope and Deluxe Color, and it's very likely the No. 1 comedy of the year to date.

Band of Angels (September 4-7), based on the popular recent novel by Robert Penn Warren, concerns itself with the problems of the South immediately prior to and during the Civil War. The motion picture is photographed beautifully (in WarnerColor) and it stars that ageless plantation owner, Clark Gable. Sounds familiar, doesn't it? Well, this film is not "Gone With the Wind," or even okin to it.

Gable and Yvonne De Carlo, who is not Vivien Leigh, find themselves involved in the usual romantic mix-up and some rather unusual racial complications, not to mention the Civil War, which Gable once again cannot win because he's been tossed on the wrong side. Distaff cinemaddicts are bound to enjoy the manner in which Gable continues to make love and there are moments of excitment for action-lovers, but this is far from a "must" picture. Sidney Poitier, incidentally, does extremely well as agitator of the race issue.

THE GARDEN

Battle Hell (September 2-7), a British black-and-white documentary whose only big-name stars are Richard Todd and Akim Tamiroff, deals skillfully with the story of H.M.S. Amethyst, attacked by Chinese Communists during a peaceful supply journey up the Yangtze River in 1949. Todd, of course, saves the ship from Tamiroff and his evil buddies, but he does it in believable and dramatic fashion. All of the cast are excellent in this import, which isn't an "art" film or just another war picture. "Battle Hell" is high adventure, against a seamy page of history that is still aligned against us in current affairs.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS

Films Tonight at Playmill. The Princeton Community Players continue their series of summer film programs with a bill tonight, Thursday, August 29, starting at 8:30 p.m. in the Playmill, Alexander Street. "The Lady Vanishes", a famous cinema milestone starring Margaret Lockwood, Michael Redgrave and Paul Lucas, is the principal attraction.

Also on the bill is the short "Pacific 231", a visualization of a locomotive journey across the French countryside, based on a symphonic composition by Arthur Honegger, and in addition, "Namatjiro", the story of Australia's leading colorist, who shows the remarkable potentialities of Aborigines when given the opportunity for cultural development.

BUCKS COUNTY PLAYHOUSE

T. C. Jones Next. The well-known female impersonator, T.C. Jones will open at Bucks County Playhouse on Labor Day in the only pre-Broadway showing of a new revue, "Mask and Gown". Mr. Jones, who will be supported by four performers, will include his famous impersonation of Tallulah Bankhead in his program.

"The Jamison Affair", a play about the State Department with a Washington setting, will continue through this Saturday, August 31 at the Playhouse in New Hope. The play stars Frances Farmer. Later in September there will be occasion to see "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?" and "A View from the Bridge" at the Bucks County Playhouse.

IF THE SHOE FITS

Trained to a Last. Both the proprietors of Tween Age Shoes have been trained to fit both orthopedic and standard shoes for children, and they say that, between them, they have 40 years of experience in shoe fitting. The training came in special courses, the experience has come with the years.

If you have an orthopedic prescription to fill for your school-bound child, you may have it filled at Tween Age. This includes the fitting of such items as the tarso pronate and tarso supinator shoe, in case you need either, Tween Age will not diagnose or prescribe, of course, but if your child's foot seems to be in need of attention, they will call it to your attention.

In this shop, Little Yankee is the brand for little girls. Oxfords, straps, saddles, patents, suedes—there's a very grown-up flat in black nylon velvet that is scuff resistant, and can be scrubbed clean. A grosgrain ribbon binds it. Another dress-up shoe is bronze or gunmetal patent. Prices in this group are $8.98 for 8½-12 and $7.98 from 12½ to 3.

Growing Girl shoes take care of today's young Amazons who have adult-sized feet while they are still wearing teen styles.

"Hush Puppies", for teen sizes, are light-weight leather shoes that feel like sneakers. They are unlined, and are styled with a tie in brown and white, all grey or black. Chukka Boot, for the same age group, is a buckskin that looks like dad's desert boot.

Boys in the family can be fitted in any size at Tween Age. Gerberich-Payne thoughtfully provides shoes for big boys who wear men's sizes but need a "growing" last. These sizes start at 6½ and go up to 12 in A's and double E's.

How about the Ivy League? Can't leave that out this fall. Here's a girls' shoe, a saddle, and you know what it has on the back of its heel, don't you? A tiny buckle.

Fur-lined WHAT?

If you like iced-tea in the summer but find it too cold for winter, you don't necessarily pour your tea into a fur-lined cup to keep it warm.

With shoes, however, it is apparently different because the Keds people have decided to keep their summer sneaker customers warm by putting a nice fur lining in some new fall offerings. "Fur-lined sneakers"? you may well ask. The answer is yes, almost. The "fur" turns out to be brushed orlon pile, which is warmer and washable to boot—or to sneaker, if you're a purist.

You may buy these things at Tween Age Shoes in the Princeton Shopping Center. For women and girls only. You think a boy would be caught dead in a pair?

Tweed, Custom-Made. A herringbone, heather tweed top-coat, completely reversible, is star of the fall show at the Prep Shop on Palmer Square.

Made with raglan sleeves and slash pockets, this size 14-20 coat is completely reversible, with a water-repellent cotton covert on the inside—or outside, if it's raining. The two sides of the coat have been so artfully put together that neither one will show below the hem, no matter which side is out. Price $54.50.

Throw this one in the washing machine: a dacron and silk (half and half) jacket, belted, hip length and called a convay coat. It's tan, with an orlon pile lining that will keep cold out and warmth in. Sized 8-12 are $37.50, and the jacket may also be had in sizes up to 20. (There's a similar jacket at The Prep Shop that's less a coat and more a jacket—has a hood, ribbed cuffs, and so on.)

The Loden coat is just as big as ever. Prep's are direct imports to the shop from West Germany, in dark tan, Loden Green or charcoal. All sizes.

Here's a wool-and-camel coat that will keep a young man warm even if he goes to Saskatchewan to school. It has an all-wool tartan lining that flashes a good warm red when the coat is opened. Buttoned, the coat has that suave, man-of-the-world look that you really need in sizes 14-20. Costs $75.

Some boys in the 6-12 size range dislike the itchy feeling of wool against a bare leg. Here, then, is a wash-and-wear flannel slack made of rayon acetate without any wool at all, except in looks. These are homewashable, of course, at $8.50.

Of Clans and Heather. Tweeds and tartans are the skirt fabrics this fall, as they are so many autumns. At Rosette Pennington, Princeton Shopping Center, the back-to-college skirt collector will find, among others, a red and grey checked tweed that has an interesting fringed belt knotted at the waistline, and a flared tweed that locks itself around your waist with a massive key about five inches long made of iron or lead or something. Anyhow it's carried on a black belt and looks most authoritative.

Skirts in this shop start at $12.95 for a grey flannel that wraps itself around you, giving a slim look with plenty of leg room. Comes in black or navy, too. Another grey flannel has a scarf that floats off your right hip, held by a silver stirrup.

A cobalt blue skirt has a wide flare, a thick tweedy skirt has a straight and skinny cut. (This skirt is woven out of a soft thick yarn that looks like tweed under a microscope.)

A skirt needs a sweater, and why not a cashmere? Rosette Pennington is ready to oblige with Pringles, Hadleys, Forstmans, in cardigans and slip-overs. Colebrook makes one slip-over with three-quarter sleeve and a white, diamond shaped yoke against pale grey. Talbot orlon sweaters are a foam of pastels. Black or grey, too.

School for Victorians. Youngland dresses, new at Allen's, 134 Nassau Street, will remind you of great-grandma's little red schoolhouse. A dark print has a ruffled bodice and cuffs, and flat brass buttons. Another Victorian dress trims its edges with tatting at cuffs and neckline. Rick-rack hands the skirt of a red dress with trim, white collar. These dresses are about $9.98.

The Ivy League holds its own among the Victorians, however. Kate Greenaway shows a dark I. L. stripe with studious white collar, or tucked bodice and self-disciplined collar in the same fabric as the dress. A dark check has a turtle-neck of red cotton knit that makes the dress look like a jumper.

Real jumpers in corduroy, wool suits in plaid, and Shetland sweaters in soft natural colors will fill out any girl's report card.

Tweed is big in girls' coats for this winter. One coat at Allen's has a black or tan velvet collar. A grey and white tweed has been lined throughout with white orlon pile, a touch that seems to repeat in the white angora edging of the velvet collar.

Sturdy alpaca lines a straight coat that has a white wool knit collar to brush softly against a tender young chin.

Boys are well-served at Allen's this fall. For the first time, the store is carrying sizes up to 20 in everything a boy needs: washable wools, chino pants, standard wools for slacks. MacGregor shirts and jackets, Scandinavian sweaters, bright as an after-ski fire, hooded Loden coats in that Loden green or charcoal grey.

The shop's favorite jacket is the Drizzler ($14.98), machine washable, and its big brother, the Rain-Freeze with nylon pile inside. Dressed-up boys will wear the grey Donegal Tweed topcoat, raglan sleeved and lined with a plaid zip-lining. Sized for 6-20.

Corduroy and Lace. Not actually, of course. But the new printed corduroy skirts at Bailey's have, in one instance, the affect of black lace over red. Another print is Tyrolean, and a third has old-fashioned flower trellises in plae green and rose, which gives you an idea of the things that are happening to corduroy these days. Skirts are done with full, small pleats, and they cost $6.95 at the Shopping Center store.

Lambsdown is the sweater at Bailey's. It's a wool at $5.95. You may have orlon for $3.95 in any color you like. Ship 'N Shore proves its reputation for reliability with a red, red skirt. It has short sleeves and a narrow little button-down collar. The fabric is "Zephyr Oxford" which means lighter in weight than usual.

Another from the same house has a checked fabric with long sleeves and a shirt front closing that stops about 12 inches below the collar. How about a $2.98 Oxford-type shirt. French cuffed, in any one of 10 different colors?

Small athletes will want the good blue gym suit of which Bailey's has so many thousands. In one or two-piece, $2.98 or $4.49.

Need a coat to get to class? Leopard lines the big hood-collar of one red poplin coat, $29.95. A raincoat shows a plaid lining, and has a matching hat, too, for $15.95.

A grey wool jumper (or skirt, if you prefer) has a red print blouse, and the skirt has a narrow belt in this red print or the grey. Another ensemble combines a grey, black and white plaid skirt with a light grey jersey top. The jersey is collarless, but there is a detachable plaid wool collar to affix if you want to. The outfit is $14.95.

Style for a Penny. Thirty-five dollars will buy you a fall suit for campus wear, either rayon or—incredibly—wool. The check should be made out to The French Shop, 20 Nassau.

Rayon in bright raspberry red, charcoal or brown makes a slim-skirted suit with fitted, round-collared jacket at that good $35 price. In wool, the suit will be teal blue with cuffed jacket or brown tweed with a belted back. Rayon has been used again in a dark green ribbed suit with black piping. A dressed-up black has sequins to spark its lapels.

Junior sizes, college bound, will like a corduroy dress in cocoa or green with roll-up sleeves, full skirt and cummerbund. A red princess carries a black poodle pin on the shoulder. That old Ivy League stripe has been sketched on a straight dark shirtwaist.

Weekends, on or off campus, will call for black velvet. How about a sheath with a short jacket, or a sheath with a pink band at the black velvet neckline and a pink bow flaunting at the shoulder of the jacket?

Sequins on a cocktail hat—in fact, the whole hat is sequins. A black velvet cocktail hat provides its own dash, without a sequin.

Black wool has been used in a two-piece ensemble that features a mink-trimmed jacket. It's an overblouse for the straight skirt. Another black wool dress, short-sleeved, has an unexpectedly informal box jacket made of wool in blanket checks.

YOU CAN SEND TOWN TOPICS anywhere in the U. S. for $2.50 a year. Keep your friends informed of all that goes on in Princeton with a subscription. Just call 2201 or send a check to P. O. Box 664, Princeton.

EVERYTHING BUT WATER: Taken from the air over northeast Princeton Township, this striking closeup photo shows the interior of Princeton Water Company's new 500,000-gallon water tank just before boilermakers put a lid on the giant sheet-metal retainer. The 150-foot tower, located on Princeton Research Park acreage and leased by PWC for 99 years, will be ready for use next Monday — presuming water can be found in drought-hurt New Jersey with which to fill its tank. At any rate the new facility should prove a boon to Princeton water-users in future years. Now a bright orange, the tower and tank will be painted leaf-green to blend with adjacent tall trees. End of Decent Living?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We had always felt a little proud and thought Birch Avenue was a nice street to live on, but recently something has happened to change all that.

A beer tavern has opened on Birch and, to the dismay and disgust of the residents, has turned the street into a veritable jungle. It brings hoodlums from all over the neighborhood, and they come and go using the worst of profane language, women as well as men.

The street is used as a latrine by both sexes, wine and beer bottles are discarded on the various surrounding properties and there is quite a lot of street fighting along with general carousing. Some come out drunk and drive away in cars, and there have been instances of damage to residents' cars by these people. Double parking is common, and there is a general practice of parking in front of driveways and petting in the cars in front of homes.

What is the Township coming to and how long will the community be a decent one?

Housing Praised

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In the process of renewing acquaintance with Princeton, I have driven out several times to look at the new housing project at the Institute for Advanced Study. The project is an extraordinarily pleasing work of architecture.

Naturally, the architecture is unashamedly modern. I wonder if Princeton University could be persuaded to make the same kind of decision on its new Engineering Quadrangle? The University campus, with its delightful (and odd) assortment of building styles, badly needs an excellent representative of contemporary architecture.

A Returning Alumnus

Thanks from Band

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The idea of a Princeton Community Band has now weathered a summer. What may have seemed an improbability to a few is now resting on a firm foundation.

In a community band I hoped to find an organization where people could gather for the pure fun of making music. In such an organization performance would be only a secondary objective, the first being satisfaction of the members' musical desires. This was the hope I had, and when I started talking to people I found encouragement. Now after many meetings, discussions, and suggestions, which surprisingly did not include the idea that I might be crazy, we can look back on a worth-while season.

I would like to take this occasion to thank the many people who did so much for this first year of the Princeton Community Band: The Borough Board of Education, The Princeton Summer Recreation Committee, The Borough Council, and Township Committee, The Administration of Princeton University, The University Band and Orchestra, Radio Station WPRB; of course, the members of the band, and finally to the residents of Princeton who have been so helpful and encouraging I would like to say

Thank you,
W. Bruce McKinney

Trucks Off Alexander!

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Unless my eardrums deceive me, there are some huge trucks struggling up Alexander Street at the most unattractive hours.

It seems fair to guess, at least, that these big noisy dears are going up Alexander because they can't come up Mercer Street (or so the sign says).

Would it be unjust to provide the same sort of law for Alexander, and then have our efficient constabulary ticket the violators? It would improve things on a nice old street.

Sincerely,
Thomas S. Godolphin

LOW BID TOO HIGH

Avalon Place Delayed. Princeton Borough, in dire need of long-planned Avalon Place, found itself smack in the middle of Trenton's paving argument this past week as the State Highway Department refused to endorse a Council-approved low bid on the important street project. The SHD Commissioner ruled that the price listed for asphalt in the winning bid was too high.

Since some $18,000 in state funds have been earmarked for the link between Bayard Lane and John Street, the SHD has jurisdiction over the contract—and has insisted that bids for construction of Avalon Place be re-advertised. Council, understandably unhappy about the delay, has called for opening of new bids at its September 10 meeting.

Objecting to payment of $14 per ton for asphalt, a sharp bone of contention in Trenton these days, the SHD head turned down flatly the $29,849 bid of the Albert E. Barrett Construction Co. of Trenton, a bid that was more than $3,000 lower than the closest competitor. "Unexpected and unusual variations in prices in certain items" caused the rejection, according to the commissioner, who added that "these variations may reflect adversely in the costs of proposed projects in the immediate area."

Henry Kenarney, the Borough's acting engineer, estimated a total two-month postponement in completion of the new artery. Presuming a successful bidder will be determined next month.

Clark Battles in Japan. Judge William Clark, the irascible Battle Road jurist, made his own headlines as he covered the Girard trial in Japan for the Trenton Times.

Judge Clark, denied one of the 35 observers' seats in the tiny courtroom, charged the presiding Judge Kawachi's refusal of his request was a "most discourteous thing." He suggested that the Japanese jurist "does not want an American Judge to see how a Japanese court operates."

Kawachi called attention to the courtroom crowding and suggested in turn that a person who demands a seat three days before the trial "lacks common sense".

Judge Clark, who in 1953 battled the U. S. State Department over his judicial post in Germany, was obliged to cable his observation of the Girard trial procedure on the basis of Japanese newspaper reports.

TURNABOUT MOVE

W. E. Contests Suits. The Western Electric Company has decided to contest suits brought against it by four Hopewell residents. The suits have been filed to refrain the company from erecting a center for its research activities in Hopewell Township.

Western Eelctric, represented by Attorney Henry M. Stratton of Princeton, is continuing its plans to utilize land bought from the former Princeton Film Center and adjoining land on Carter Road between Cleveland Road and Mount Rose-Rocky Hill Road. The court proceedings are expected to take at least six months, and maybe as much as a year and a half.

The suits against Western Electric were filed by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Mark M. Jones. Both suits name the company and Hopewell Township as defendants and maintain that the Township can not permit the Western Electric installation in a residential zone under a so-called "special use" clause.

ARCHITECT'S SKETCH OF HANDSOME NEW "U"-STORE: Princeton University's stylish new University Store, now being built at 36 University Place by Matthews Construction Company, is a two-story, 27,000-square-foot structure blending Princeton's traditional Gothic architecture and limestone trim. As designed by Eldredge Snyder of New York City, the split-level building completes a court with adjacent dormitories, Blair Hall (left) on the north and Lockhart Hall on the south. The $500,000 structure will include space for the Music Shop and several student publications as well as the "U"-Store.

MATHEMATICIANS MEET

Conference on Analysis. A mathematical conference in the field of analytical functions will be held at the Institute for Advanced Study starting next week. The conference will start on Sunday, September 1, and go on through Saturday, September 14.

Sixty leading mathematicians from the United States and twelve foreign countries are expected to attend. Among the distinguished men coming from abroad are professor Rolf Nevanlinna of the mathematical institute of the university of Helsinki; professor Heinrich Behnke of the university of Muenster, Germany; and professor Jean Leray of the College de France in Paris, a member of the Institute. Other foreign representatives will be Dr. Komaravolu Chandrasekharan of Bombay and professor Georges deRham of Lausanne, Switzerland, another member of the Institute.

Sponsored by the Air Force Office of Scientific Research in accordance with the policy of the Department of Defense to support fundamental research, the conference will feature five seminars and eight principal addresses. The chairman of the conference is professor Marston Morse who has collaborated with professors Arne Beurling and Atle Selberg in the preparation of the program. All are members of the faculty of the School of Mathematics of the Institute.

The members of the conference have all been chosen for their work in the field of analytic functions. "The results of this meeting should constitute a major contribution to the study of both the classical and ultra modern aspects of the theory of functions," professor Morse states. The principal addresses will be published in a book by the Princeton University Press and edited by the conference committee.

Several members of the mathematics department at Princeton will participate in the conference. Professor Salomon Bochner will preside over one of the seminars and professors Donald Spencer and Kunihiko Kodaira will both deliver major addresses.

An extensive entertainment program has been planned and will include visits to RCA Laboratories and a trip to New York where the members will attend a U.N. debate on the Hungarian question. A concert will be held Thursday evening, September 12, for members and guests. A 22-string ensemble, the New Chamber Orchestra of Philadelphia, will play with Nicholas Harsanyi as conductor and Janice Harsanyi as soloist.

AEROCHEM ORGANIZES

New Research Lab. A new scientific research organization, AeroChem Research Laboratories, Inc., has been organized in Princeton. Headed by Dr. Hartwell F. Calcote of 52 Knoll Drive, the organization utilizes the facilities of the former Princeton Radiation Chemistry Laboratory, Inc. on Ridge Road.

The new laboratories will undertake contract research for industry and government in the fields of synthesis in electrical discharges, gaseous electronics in combustion processes, magnetohydrodynamics, and advanced fuels and propulsion systems. The new firm's name reflects the scope of its comprehensive research program.

Besides Dr. Calcote, who will act as president and director of research, several other appointments have been made known. Dr. Gosta C. Akerlof, of 384 Stockton Street, former research director of Princeton Radiation Chemistry Laboratory, has joined the organization as project director. Dr. Josef V. Leicht of Kingston, has been appointed to the research staff, and Edward O. Ansell of 463 Jefferson Road has been named general manager.

EARLY RETURNEES

West Windsor Opening. The schools of West Windsor Township will open for the 1957-58 year at 8:30 next Thursday morning. Students of West Windsor School in Dutch Neck should report to the school's auditorium at that time.

Frank J. Walton, principal of West Windsor, has notified parents of all Township students and students going to Princeton High School of new bus routes. Parents of parochial school children, or children as yet unassigned to a bus, should contact Mr. Walton at the school's new number, Plainsboro 3-6550.

STILL PUFFING: Rex Goreleigh, the Princeton artist, reports with the majority of this week's "Questioned" that the heavy publicity apparently linking lung cancer and smoking has not caused him to cut down on his nicotine habits. He assures Town Topics' inquiring reporter he still loves his pipe. (Town Topics Photo by Photo Group)

Question of the Week

Question: Has the recent battle of evidence concerning the link between smoking and lung cancer made a change in your tobacco habits?

Location: Around town.

Edward L. Anderson, Route 1, test-specialist at ETS: No—a habit of over 25 years standing is difficult for anyone to break. Also, I am not as yet convinced that cigarette smoking is a cause of lung cancer. The evidence, at present, is impressive, but scientists have not yet seen fit to explain the incidence of the disease among non-smokers.

David Toole Jr., 26 Chestnut Street, market and consumer research at Benson and Benson: No, not at all. I've smoked filter and non-filter cigarettes and I've heard the filter isn't really as good for you, but I don't believe it. I haven't felt it make any difference to keep on smoking.

Thomas Rossi, 214 Columbus Avenue, Trenton, barber at Jack Honore's: I smoke a pack and a half a day. No, I haven't changed and I have no intention. I started smoking when I was 16 and I'm 52 now, so I've got time. Why didn't they mention all this cancer stuff before.

Rex Goreleigh, artist, Lower Alexander Street: No, I'm a constant pipe smoker and I own about 30 pipes. But I never think of the cancer angle. Somehow smoking seems such a pleasure for me that I never give a thought to any unpleasant aftermath.

What's In A Link?

The informal poll conducted at left suggests that the average tobacco smoker has followed the long verbal debate about cancer and smoking, and by and large, is not yet impressed by the findings.

The cigarette companies, who complained of some drop in sales when the headlines first became forceful, are now reporting gains in overall sales. The recently attacked filter cigarette is responsible for most of the regained economic ground.

Thomas S. Ashforth, 3-C Pleasant Grove, graduate student: Well, I gave it up completely nearly nine months ago. I don't see how you can get around the medical evidence, particularly if you're young. How can you inhale hot irritating air so many thousand times and not run a risk. But I really gave it up because it costs too much.

James Kahny, 20 Madison Street, patent department at RCA: No, it seem to me smoking is like any other habit. It would take some more difficult proof than has been advanced up to this point to convince me there is a definite connection between the two.

Scotty Hamley, 8 Sergeant Street, traveling salesman: Reading all the propaganda and literature on the dangers of tobacco in magazines, newspapers and other publications has had a very distinct effect on me. I've gotten to the point where I no longer read magazines, newspapers and other publications.

Hank Chachowski, Manville, photographer: I smoke two or three packs of cigarettes a day and I haven't the slightest intention of changing. If you really want to, know, I don't care.

CHARTER FOR NEWLY CHARTERED GROUP: Members of the Princeton Borough Police Department, previously associated with Trenton Local 11, Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, formed their own organization—Princeton Local 130, PBA—last week. On hand for special ceremonies marking the occasion was James Vigilante (second from left), third vice-president of the State PBA who presented Princeton's charter to Patrolman George Knowles, newly elected president of Local 130. Borough Councilman Harry A. Farr (left), police commissioner, and Patrolman J. Danford Hagadorn, Local 130's first state delegate, also participated in the charter presentation. TALENT HUNT

Jaycees Seek Top 10. The Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce is looking for local candidates for the ten outstanding young men of 1957.

Since 1938, the national organization of the Jaycees has honored 10 men between the ages of 21 and 36 who have made outstanding contributions to their work and the general welfare of the people. The purpose is to focus public attention on the opportunities available through our free enterprise system.

The Princeton group is looking for candidates, which can be nominated from any field of endeavour. Individuals, organizations, educational institutions, industrial groups or professions may submit nominees.

If you heve a candidate, please write to the Princeton Jaycees, P. O. Box 324 or call Pr. 1-1923-M. The deadline for suggestions is September 6.

PBA UNIT FORMED

Princeton Gets Charter. After being affiliated with Trenton Local 11 of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association for a number of years, the police officers of Princeton Borough received a charter for their own unit last week. Princeton Local 130, PBA, was formed as Patrolman James Vigilante of Morristown, third vice-president of the State PBA, presented the charter to Patrolman George Knowles, newly elected president of the Princeton group.

In special ceremonies at the Nassau Tavern, Patrolman Vigilante extended best wishes for a successful organization to Patrolman Knowles and his colleagues, explaining that PBA locals play an important role in supporting police legislation and local civic groups. He also welcomed members of the Princeton Township Police Department into the fold. Heretofore, the Township officers had belonged to no PBA unit.

In addition to Patrolman Knowles, the Princeton policemen elected the following new officers: John Chasko, vice-president; Frank Maguire, financial secretary; James Koplinger, corresponding secretary; Robert McAvenia, treasurer; Arthur Gallant, sergeant-at-arms; J. Danford Hagadorn, state delegate; and Stanley Donald and John Markuson, convention delegates.

Representative PBA guests at the charter dinner were Detective John McKeever of Princeton's "mother unit," Local 11 of Trenton; Patrolman Carl Russo, delegate from Lawrence Township's Local 119; and Patrolman Andrew Bellando, delegate from Ewing Township's Local 111. Borough Councilman Harry A. Farr, police commissioner, was among the Borough and Township guests attending the ceremonies.

NOT DEAD YET

"Pro-Smiths" Still Kicking. Admitedly disappointed over the legislative blow which knocked out its dreams of reservoirs at Stony Brook and Spruce Run, the State Water Resources Advisory Committee assured New Jersey residents this week that it has not gone down for the telltale 10-count. Death-knell sentences from anti-Advisory Committee forces notwithstanding, the Governor Meyner-appointed group insists it is not dead yet.

Speaking in behalf of the year-old committee, George F. Smith of Johnson & Johnson, chairman, asserted that he and his colleagues will forget the fact that the Legislature turned thumbs down on the two reservoir projects, one of them just west of Princeton. His committee, he declared, "will complete its assignment to develop a comprehensive long-range plan to meet the needs of all sections of New Jersey."

Mr. Smith cited the Legislature's "failure" to act on his group's initial phase of a statewide water programs. Then, he observed, "We set out to give New Jersey an all-encompassing water supply program, self-sustaining and self-liquidating, and we intend to do just that in the logical, step-by-step manner established when the committee was formed."

The chairman continued: "The committee's first report dealing with on-river reservoirs has prompted proposals for an accelerated development of Round Valley, which was included in the committee's first report but was considered as something for the future because of statutory restrictions that existed. Recommendations for the early development of Round Valley are encouraging, as is the apparent willingness of the Legislature to remove the restrictions."

Cook Watersheds Trustee. Thomas P. Cook, of the Princeton law firm of French and Cook, was unanimously elected as a trustee of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association at the group's monthly meeting. There are now 24 trustees.

Mr. Cook has served as general counsel to the state's Division of Water Policy and Supply. He is a graduate of Princeton University and of the University of Virginia Law School, where he was editor of the law review. A resident of Princeton for the past nine years, he served as president of the United Community Fund for four campaigns.

Boychoir Flight Jolted. The 36 Columbian Boychoir lads now touring South America received an unexpected thrill and seven-hour delay when the plane flying them from Lima, Peru, to Santiago, Chile, was forced to land with two flat tires.

The Panagra airliner blew one tire and damaged another as it took off. No one in the flight of 73 passengers was injured.

Donald T. Bryant, musical director of the Boychoir, told newsmen, "It was a bouncy, rattling experience, but there was no fear among the passengers."

No direct report had been received here as of Tuesday either by Princeton parents or by school authorities, and the incident appeared closed.

Meanwhile, glowing accounts have been sent to the school of the reception accorded the famed Boychoir. The concerts are proving sellouts everywhere, winning enthusiastic receptions from the South American audiences and appreciation from U. S. representatives, who find the boys outstanding as good-will ambassadors.

The touring group left Princeton August 5. They will perform virtually daily as they visit all the nations of South and Central America. The "Singing Boys" will return to their Princeton headquarters in October.

Birth List. Thirteen children were born to residents of the Princeton area in Princeton Hospital last week. Of this number, seven were boys.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. David Marshall, Dutch Neck Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Lovering, Blawenburg; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Herring, 47 Harriet Drive; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford H. McCall, Jr., Lawrenceville Road; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Le Prevost, Bearbrook Road, Princeton Junction; Mr. and Mrs. Armand Fell, 500 Mercer Road and Mr. and Mrs. William F. Meredith, 6 Greenhouse Drive.

Parents of daughters are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Karluk, 101 N. Main Street, Cranbury; Mr. and Mrs. James O. Driver, 143 Jefferson Road; Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Weingart, 240 N. Harrison Street; Mr. and Mrs. John Barton, 260 Nassau Street; and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Perrin, Woodacres Farm, Skillmen.

TOWNSHIP COURT

Relative Quiet. The spectacular crash that severely damaged the Kingston Bridge last week cost truck-driver Henry E. Sidney, 54, of Philadelphia, $35 and costs. He was assessed for careless driving at Tuesday's Township Court session by Magistrate Louis R. Gerber.

Miraculously uninjured in the accident, that left a tractor-trailer dangling over the Millstone River and scattered cases of soft drinks in all directions, Sidney stated that he was going 25 miles per hour. Patrolman Fred Porter reminded the court of the ten-mile limit posted at the top of the bridge and Mr. Sidney paid over the fine.

Harold Hunter, 32, of Trenton, was fined $25 and costs for driving without a license in a case that had been held over for a week. In the most far-ranging, and verbal, presentation of the evening, Giacchino Gaudioso, 46, 28 Leigh Avenue, was acquitted of a charge of assault and battery with the aid of Patrolman Antonio Diaforli, who for the first time served as an interpreter for an Italian-speaking defendant.

BOROUGH COURT

Two Sentenced. John Disnuke, 23, of 148 Witherspoon Street, and Ernest Simpson, 40, 280 Witherspoon Street, were sentenced this week to 10 and 30 day sentences, respectively, on charges of loitering and creating a disturbance under the influence of intoxicating liquor, by Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro.

The two engaged in a scuffle Saturday afternoon in a dispute over a 50-cent bet in a card game at 144 Witherspoon Street, and police were called. Simpson was later found to have held a large butcher knife during the scuffle.

Both men were held on $50 bail, but because Disnuke was not released, he was arraigned in a special session Monday afternoon and sentenced to 10 days in the county jail. At the regular Tuesday court session, Simpson was found guilty and sent to the county workhouse for 30 days.

No. 1 Annual Outing Monday. The Princeton Engine Company No. 1 will hold its traditional outing at the Squatters' Club Camp, Quaker Road, this Monday Labor Day.

Members of the Committee are: Robert B. McAvenia, Chairman, John D. Cashill, Andrew B. Cupples, Samuel S. Davison, Joseph V. Gallagher, Bernard Glover, John P. Golden, Frank Haupt, Robert J. Higgins, Leonard F. Kraus, Elmer L. McHugh, Emile F. Pierre, Raymond J. Rodweller, William E. Rodweller, and Junior V. Skillman.

Dr. Wigner Honored. Dr. Eugene P. Wigner, internationally known authority on quantum mechanics and a member of the Princeton University faculty since 1930, received an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from the University of Alberta, Canada, last week.

Dr. Wigner and Dr. Albert W. Tucker, Chairman of the Mathematics Department at Princeton, are lecturing at the University of Alberta's summer session. The seminar is a joint program of the Canadian Mathematical Congress and the Theoretical Physics Division of the Canadian Association of Physicists.

Prominently identified with the development of atomic energy, Dr. Wigner was honored at a special convocation at the university. He is Jones Professor of Mathematics at Princeton.

SPIRITED SOFTBALL ACTION AS SEASON'S END NEARS: Frank Boccanfuso of Sannino's Plumbing & Heating clicked with a bunt single in the second inning of play Tuesday evening as his team tangled with the Sportsmen's Club in the initial game of the Princeton Community Softball League's final playoff series. Sannino's went on to win, 4-0, despite the creditable efforts of such Sportsmen as Pitcher Sam Nini and Catcher Joe Toto. (Town Topics Photo by Photo Group)

SPORTS In Princeton

SOFTBALL SURPRISE

Sannino's, Sportsmen Finalists. Just a year ago, Nassau Social Club and Drake's Plumbing & Heating, the two perennial powerhouses of the Princeton Community Softball League, were trying to get at each other's throats in an exciting, do-or-die, best-of-five final playoff series. It figured that they would repeat their series status this year, for Drake's took first place without trouble and NSC finished a comfortable runner-up during regular-season play.

But history, in this instance, was not destined to repeat itself. The also-rans of the PCSL simply grew sick and tired of also-running. Third - place Sannino's Plumbing & Heating eliminated Drake's in two straight contests in the opening round of the annual post-campaign playoffs and, late last week, the Sportsmen's Club, No. 4 team in the loop, slapped NSC for a second time to earn an unexpected crack at Sannino's.

The two surprising finalists finally began their unprecedented series this Tuesday evening, with now-favored Sannino's blanking the Sportsmen, 4-0, by way of an aroused showing. Thus, the losers — who, incidentally, dropped their opener to NSC before coming back strong to win a pair — must muster some strength by 6:15 p. m. this Thursday, when the final playoffs' second engagement is slated for Marquand Park.

Lou DeMeguio, Sannino's Johnny-come-lately-but-quickly pitching hero, hurled steady three-hit ball and received errorless support as he defeated Sam Nini of the losing club, a five-safety pitcher whose teammates committed three miscues behind him. The victors made the most of their hits and breaks, scoring single runs in the first, second, fourth and fifth innings — one of the tallies being picked up on Ralph Proccacino's long homer.

Kahny Key Man? The big man in any rebounding plans the Sportsmen may entertain could be Harry Kahny, an oft-tough hurler who tossed his nine into the finals against NSC last Thursday. Kahny allowed only three blows and paid little heed to three Sportsmen errors as he outpitched Huck McCreedy, ace of the NSC staff.

For the Sportsmen, who collected nine safeties in all, Bob Cook, Joe Toto and Kahny were the leading performers, with two apiece. The final score read 7-2, the Sportsmen contributing largely to McCreedy's downfall with a five-run outburst in the third frame.

In the distaff division of the PCSL, ETS (8-4) grabbed second place in the final league standings — at least, that's ETS' impression — by utilizing a "revamped" lineup and overwhelming the Yankees, 10-2. The Yankees (7-5), who had vanquished ETS by a 21-5 count just a week earlier, protested last Thursday's contest because the winning team's "revamping" included players unused by ETS in previous games this season.

Thorne's Druggists, the unchallenged regular - season champs (11-1) in the gals' division, trimmed ASCOP, 20-3, and Bell Telephone, 5-2, to conclude their preplayoff work last week. This Thursday evening at "95" Field, unless the Yanks' protest complicates matters, Thorne's will meet ETS in the first encounter of a best-of-three playoff series, the second game to follow next Tuesday.

PAC EVEN

One UP, One Down. Favored Princeton Athletic Club, easy winner of the Tri-County Baseball League's pennant, will be forced to go down-to-the-wire with Montgomery Township to decide the annual playoff champion. Game time for the "clincher," final outing of a best-of-three series, will be 6:15 this Thursday evening at Princeton High School.

Led by Manager Charlie Perpetua's two-hit pitching, PAC got off to a good start in the series a week ago, whitewashing Montgomery at PHS by a lopsided 11-0 score. Perpetua allowed only three bases on balls as his teammates cracked seven safeties, including a home run by Jim Lewis and a tremendous ground-rule double by Lee Ammerman. Warren Huff, a .460 batter for the season, collected one-for-two and Steve Hogarty hit two-for-three.

Playing out-of-town this Tuesday evening, the Princeton nine found Lefty Brogan a rugged opposing hurler, able enough to whiff 11 PAC batsmen. Perpetua continued his effective work, permitting two hits against the fourpoled by PAC, but four unearned-runs proved his undoing. Huff maintained his torrid streak (two-for-two), scoring Princeton's first run on an overthrow after singling in the opening inning and driving in the game's sole earned tally in the fifth after Perpetua had singled.

CHAMPS REPEAT

Nassau Oilers On Top. With the ever-popular All-Star contest behind them, officials of the Princeton Junior Baseball League took time out this week to add up final statistics and announce final loop standings for 1957. As expected, Nassau Oil won the title by a comfortable margin, repeating its championship of last summer.

This year, however, the victorious Oilers captured the crown in unusual fashion—the most unusual championship in the league's successful 16-year history. Led by Paul Cuomo and Vince Petrillo, managers, the No. 1 team copped fewer games (7) than any previous winner and tied more (4) than any previous top-rung club.

In totalling its 47 victory points, Nassau Oil dropped only one contest—the last meeting of the campaign. And this one the Oilers lost by the forfeit route, the players who failed to appear losing it for them.

League standings for 1957 showed how balanced the competing teams were, and the fact that the overall average score of all games was 5-3 for the season substantiated this point. Also, in the final week of play, the third and fourth-place nines toppled the top two entries.

Final results:

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Nassau Oil	7	1	4	47
Lions Club	6	5	1	38
Bowers	4	5	3	34
Matthews	2	8	2	24

"Fabulous Experience"

Returning home by plane Monday afternoon, Princeton's Nick Kovalakides, javelin thrower par excellence, described his month-long goodwill tour of the Balkan countries as "a great success and a fabulous experience." Kovalakides and six other American track and field stars of Greek origin were sent abroad by the order of AHEPA (American-Hellenic Educational Progressive Association).

The former Princeton High triple-threat field-event performer, who holds the New Jersey scholastic javelin record, said he got "a real thrill" out of competing in Czechoslovakia on August 14 and 15. There, before 30,000-plus roaring track enthusiasts, participants of Emil Zatopek's calibre vied for national honors. In the javelin event, Kovalakides placed third with a toss of 205 feet, just behind the Greek champion he had defeated a week earlier and well behind No. 1 Czech javelinist (217 feet).

Kovalakides explained that he elected to skip the current Balkan Games and fly home because he stood a chance of losing any future opportunity to represent the United States in international competition by representing Greece in the Balkan meet. Moreover, he said he did not want to jeopardize his amateur status at the University of Maryland, where he will start making use of a four-year sports scholarship next month.

HUN SLATES SEVEN

First Game October 4. Coach Hawley Waterman of Hun School, looking forward to the coming football campaign and anxious to forget last fall's oft-beaten eleven, his first in this neck of the woods, this week announced a seven-game schedule for his Red and Black charges and noted that practice sessions will begin in about two weeks. With Bob Gottschalk and Bill Hagenbuch co-captaining the Johnny Huns, Waterman's club will open the slate on October 4 against Tower Hill of Wilmington, Del.

The Hun School varsity grid schedule:

Oct. 4—Tower Hill (A)
Oct. 11—Bryn Athyn (H)
Oct. 18—Open
Oct. 25—Friends Central (A)
Nov. 1—Solebury (A)
Nov. 8—George School (H)
Nov. 15—Germantown Fds. (H)
Nov. 22—Delbarton (A)

ADDED STARTER

150-Pound Football. The seven members of the Eastern Intercollegiate 150-pound Football League will begin a 21-game season when new starter Army faces Columbia at West Point on October 11.

The Cadets will field a lightweight team for the first time this fall, and have entered the competition for the league's new trophy. Last year, Navy won the title with Penn and Princeton following in that order.

The Middies have captured the title nine times since the league was formed in 1934. The 1957 schedule for the Tiger 150's:

Oct. 12, Pennsylvania; Oct. 25, Columbia at New York; Nov. 2, Rutgers; Oct. 8, Army at West Point; Nov. 16, Navy; Nov. 23, Cornell at Ithaca.

PHS "ANCHORMAN": Co-Captain Bill Gallant, 180-pound right end, will be "Mr. Big" in Princeton High's plans when the 1957 season gets underway against Leonardo High on September 28. The senior flanker, most experienced lineman among Joe Jingoli's 11 returning lettermen, will be expected to "anchor" this fall's club, playing close to full-game time on offense and defense. He and his cohorts will report for physicals late next week, then all-out practices the first day of school, September 9.

FEWER RESERVES

Army Cuts Back Program. Starting September 1, the U. S. Army plans to greatly curtail the number of men who may enlist in the Army Reserve Program.

The cut-back will also affect those already enlisted, as shipping figures to the six-month active duty training camps will be reduced. The curtailment was necessitated by budgeting limitations, according to a report from Army Headquarters at Kearney.

However, limited recruiting is expected to continue to keep the training input up to strength objectives of the program.

Non-Cash Raffles O.K. William E. Lehman, Jr., chairman of the Control Commission for Raffles in New Jersey, this week warned that offering of cash prizes in nondraw raffles jeopardizes the rights of organizations to legally raise large amounts of money.

Last spring, Princeton Borough adopted a raffles ordinance which covers just this problem. If raffles offer merchandise instead of cash prizes, they are acceptable under the ordinance, and are licensed at Borough Hall.

Mr. Lehman cited a case In Old Bridge where two cash games were run contrary to the law, and thus the fire company responsible was suspended for 26 months for the infraction.

continue to operate her office on an appointment basis, but will devote the major part of her time to the real estate agency. She has previously been secretary and president of the Princeton Business Association.

New Film Available. A film about the New Hope-Lambertville area, entitled "Bend in the Delaware," is now available for civic, social and other community groups without charge.

The 12-minute color film pictorizing the beauties of Bucks County was produced by Samuel L. Schulman Productions, and narrated by Allen Ward. It may be obtained by writing to the Program Chairman of the New Hope Exchange Club, New Hope, Pa. More than 550 organizations have requested use of the film to date.

SCIENTIST PROBES SKIES

Plans to Photo Sun. Dr. Martin Schwarzschild, Princeton University's noted astronomer, is nearing his goal of taking pictures of the sun three times clearer than any present photographs.

Dr. Schwarzschild hopes soon to send a 12-inch telescope and camera to the upper reaches of the earth's atmosphere to take clear pictures of the disturbances on the surface of the sun. He is working in cooperation with the United States Navy and Air Force, General Mills, Inc., and a Connecticut electronics firm.

Just last week, the Navy announced completion of a trial run, which sent the million-cubic-foot SKYHOOK balloon to 83,000 feet above the earth's surface. The telescope and intricate pointing mechanism were safely parachuted to the ground after floating in the upper atmosphere for four hours.

Atmospheric Curtain. Dr. Schwarzschild is fighting an atmospheric curtain which has hindered all astronomical efforts to get clear photographs. At about 40,000 feet there is a turbulent body of air called the tropopause which "fuzzes up the images of even the largest telescopes made," the Princeton scientist observed.

By sending the balloon above this layer, Dr. Schwarzschild expects to get closer detail in pictures of sun spots and flares which have intrigued scientists for many years. The balloon must be unmanned in order to prevent any unnecessary movements of the complex pointing mechanism.

Once at its 80,000 foot perch, a 35 mm. camera will begin shooting a set of 8,000 pictures of the sun. According to the Princeton researcher, present photos of the sun have only distinguished disturbances of 600 or more miles in diameter, and the new technique should reveal valuable information about the more common eddies of 150-200 miles in diameter.

Open New Fields. The idea is a simple one, but it opens up vast new fields of astronomy, leading to bigger and better ascensions of more complicated and accurate equipment. Now that the trial run has gone off successfully, Dr. Schwarzschild and the Office of Naval Research plan to send the rig up for actual photographing within 30 days.

Dr. Schwarzschild has outlined some of the possible future uses of the technique which he developed, including the prediction that a 36 inch telescope at that height could answer the question of life on Mars. Work also is planned to study the dust clouds in the heavens which are suspected to be the source of new stars.

SOMETHING NEW ON THE SUN: Dr. Martin Schwarzschild, chief investigator for "Project Stratoscope" and Eugene Higgins Professor of Astronomy at Princeton University, is shown with the solar telescope and related equipment which are utilized in the project. The scientist's aim: to photograph the clearest pictures of the sun ever taken. For details of his work to date, see Topics of the Town. (Official U. S. Navy Photo)

Strictly "Dutch Treat"

When your beautiful shade trees are fighting a hopeless fight against disease, don't smile through your tears at all that lovely money you will be able to deduct from your income tax. It just isn't so.

In spite of an article appearing recently in a national magazine which stated that a homeowner had been allowed a $700 deduction for a tree killed by Dutch elm disease, trees dying from this or any other disease do not qualify as a deductible casualty loss.

Deductions for loss of personal property are allowed only when "sudden destructive forces" are at play, such as fire, storms, shipwrecks, or theft. So, if somebody steals your tree, or burns it, or even takes it along on the likes of the Andrea Doria, you will get a nice deduction, but disease alone won't do you a bit of good.

Students Urged to Vote. College students who will be eligible to vote by November 5 are reminded by the League of Women Voters to register before leaving for school.

Registration should be made at the Clerk's office of the Borough and the Township from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. A year's residence in the state and five months in Mercer County are required, and changes in name or address should be re-registered.

The deadline for registration in Princeton is September 26, and application for absentee ballots must be made by October 29 at the County Clerk, County Court House, 209 South Broad Street, Trenton.

New Postal Services. Starting September 3, the Post Office will make foot deliveries to Clover Lane, Abernathy Drive, Magnolia Lane, Broadripple Drive, Overbrook Drive and Snowden Lane up to Overbrook Drive.

The Post Office Department this week notified patrons that this service requires the installation of an approved mail receptacle or door mail slot. Also all residences must be numbered.

Children's Home News. Two of 18 cases of adoption received by the Children's Home Society of New Jersey during August involved Mercer County mothers, according to Bruce Bedford, Princeton director of the Society.

The Society reported a 100 per cent increase in requests for adop—Continued on Page 20

The New Jersey Poll

STATE'S CITIZENS URGE 10-POINT HIGHWAY CODE FOR LABOR DAY WEEKEND

Forewarned that the auto accident toll in the nation over the coming three-day holiday period will bring death to hundreds and injury to thousands, newspaper editors, safety engineers, public officials, and many rank and file citizens are giving thought to what can be done to prevent this awful waste of human life.

To determine how adult citizens in the state feel on this matter, New Jersey Poll reporters recently put this question to a representative cross-section of the state's citizens:

"What one suggestion do you have for reducing auto accidents in this state?"

Results of the survey show that four ways for reducing auto accidents are uppermost on people's minds at the present time:

1. Cut down on speeding: curb speeding; drive more slowly; slow them up a bit; slow down and live; drive slow; obey the speed laws (New Jersey Poll surveys in the past have shown that roughly one out of every two drivers on the road today admits to driving over 60 miles an hour, some admitting to driving over 100 miles an hour on highways—not racetracks.)

2. Drive more carefully: always keep cars under control; watch the other driver at all times; never take chances; cut out reckless driving; don't drive recklessly.

3. Get drunken drivers off the road: police should concentrate on drunken drivers; don't drive when you have had some drinks, don't let drunken drivers operate cars; stiffer penalties for drunken drivers; don't let drunks drive at any time.

4. Stricter law enforcement, crack down on offenders; stiffer penalties; better law enforcement.

Next most popular suggestions for reducing auto accidents, judging from the frequency of mentions, are:

5. More traffic and highway police: put more police on the highways; police cars on the highways would do much to cut down accidents; not enough police on the roads.

6. More control of "teen-age" drivers: keep cowboys off the road; watch younger drivers more carefully.

7. Stricter license examinations: more thorough driving tests; weed out unfit drivers; have physical examinations; have periodic driver check-ups.

8. Need more courtesy on the road; give other driver a break; practice the "golden rule".

9. Don't drive too slow: don't see how slowly you can drive; don't tie up traffic by driving too slowly.

10. Raise the age limits for drivers.

During the year 1957, some 40,000 will be killed on the roads and highways across the U.S.A., and some 150,000 seriously injured.

President Eisenhower pointed up the enormity of the problem when he stated that more people had been killed in auto accidents during the past 50 years than have been killed in all the wars that the nation has engaged in since its founding.

lation of an approved mail receptacle or door mail slot. Also, tion compared to last year's statewide total for the month. Requests were received from other agencies, directly from parents, from maternity homes and hospitals.

Employment Down. New Jersey's non-agricultural employment declined by 1,700 jobs in July, to a total of 1,926,000. A sharp drop in manufacturing was only partly countered by a rise in the non-manufacturing area.

Carl Holderman, Labor and Industry Commissioner for New Jersey, explained that inventory and repair shutdowns, plus vacations accounted for the manufacturing drop of 7,400. Increases were noted in the construction and service industries.

Meyner Campaign Set. The executive committee of the Meyner for Governor Clubs this week approved a state-wide door-to-door solicitation for television coats of the Governor's campaign for re-election.

The campaign, entitled "Back Our Bob," will begin with a series of regional meetings to organize local volunteers throughout the state. Meetings will be held in Teaneck and Morristown, September 3; in Camden and Trenton, September 4; Newark, September 5; and Atlantic City, September 6.

DR. ERDMAN BREAKS GROUND. Each summer, Dr. Charles R. Erdman serves the congregation of the Adirondack Community Church, Lake Placid, New York, as summer minister. Last Sunday, he preached his last sermon of the season and then broke ground for the church's new Charles R. Erdman Parish Hall, a $76,000 structure which will be named for "our beloved pastor-emeritus." The Rev. Claire Carpenter, regular minister of the church, stands at Dr. Erdman's left.

DECORATOR'S DREAM
for $22,900
This two-story white brick and clapboard has much as it stands for a small family: living room with fireplace, dining room, 3 bedrooms, 1½ baths, full cellar, small but pretty protected lot, nice neighborhood, accessibility. What it needs can be given with paint, brush, time and energy. Of course, a professional painter can always do the job if you prefer, and in our opinion it would still be a good buy. Incidentally, there's a perfect spot to add another bedroom and bath.

GRACIOUS AND SPACIOUS
for $60,000
This half-century semi-Colonial frame house brings with it a feeling of gracious living that many of us long for after years of cramped, cluttered so-called modern houses. All the rooms are spacious, and there are plenty of them. The huge living and dining rooms (with fireplaces), bookshelf-lined study, enormous screened porch and big kitchen give plenty of living space for grown-ups. The seven bedrooms (4 on the second, 3 on the third), 4½ baths and big basement with a playroom section (including a beautiful pool table!) will keep innumerable children happy. Outside the house has just as much to offer—heavenly gardens and a pleasant lawn are completely walled in. To top it off, the house is in a lovely Borough section, and the taxes are low!

a pretty patio we built ourselves

Grover Lumber gave us "how-to-do-it" instructions on everything from laying the flagstone to building the fireplace. They even helped select a site that would be shady in summer and sunny in Fall.

In two weeks we completed this charming outdoor living room. I'd say it's added a thousand dollars to the value of the house.

Sound easy? It was! Grover Lumber will help you too.

This Letter From Mr. Sam Brodie Tells Why

DEAR MR. AND MRS. PRINCETONIAN:

The rumors you've been hearing about Nassau Estates are absolutely true. Because of the tremendous value we offer the home-seeking public, we are fast reaching the sell-out stage. This bears out our contention that Nassau Estates is the fastest growing community in the Delaware Valley, U.S.A.

Many circumstances have contributed to the unprecedented number of sales at Nassau Estates within the past two months. Most important, Nassau Estates offers home owners all the advantages of living in the highly desirable Princeton area without paying high prices and even higher taxes.

Comparable homes within the same area are priced from 3 to 4 thousand dollars more than Nassau Estates. Moreover, tax rates in Lawrence Township represent a considerable savings each year. Nassau Estates is an investment in finer living with expanded educational facilities, cultural, and business opportunities within grasp of every family.

With just a few units left, we urge you to see and buy Nassau Estates. Visit our model homes on Princeton Pike and see our impressive 1957 homes. Live in Nassau Estates, the most perfect community in America.

Looking forward to seeing you at Nassau Estates, I remain,

Sincerely yours,

Samuel Brodie

FROM THE GARDEN STATE

With the return of children to school soon, now is the time when normal diets and food habits of children are resumed with fresh milk in a prominent place on the table.

The New Jersey dairy industry includes some 150,000 cows producing milk under rigid health regulations. Produced nearby, New Jersey milk is obviously fresh and of high quality.

New Jersey's dairy industry is an important source of fresh milk and even exports a considerable volume every day to New York City and Philadelphia. The Holstein breed leads in numbers, followed by the Guernsey, Brown Swiss and Jersey breeds, plus a few Ayrshires.

It's always wise to buy Jersey milk. Whenever you are shopping for the family table, for milk, for fruit and for vegetables, ask the man: "Is it from Jersey?" Help yourself to the riches of the Garden State.
